Meijer Photography Westfield Miguel and I went to Westfield with our daughter and her friend to take pictures of their art show this weekend. I had some laundry to do and had the trunk of my car packed with towels, clothes, and the like. I was surprised to find that every single one of the shopping carts had a grocery bag in the back. Great! We usually get them when we do our deliveries, but not so at Westfield. I love the fact that there are no carts to push or carry when shopping at Westfield, but they had them in the parking lot. We walked around and saw all sorts of wonderful products with interesting prices. We were able to find four different products. We were taken by an older gentleman who had an incredible collection of hand-blown glass, he had a huge white table he made himself and it was amazing. It was very shady and I wasn't the biggest fan, but I know that Miguel was. I think it was cooler too. I was considering the soap when we got a call from our daughter's aunt. She was calling to ask about the gift cards she was purchasing, they were $20 each and they told us not to tell anybody she had bought them. Great! We look for $20 gift cards at the store all the time. We ended up getting more than we expected. I think we spent about $50 total. The first one had a knife, but I think the guy who had it figured out that it was a kitchen knife and offered to sell it to me, and I was happy to buy it. I might have bought three of them. I love to buy jewelry, especially if it's something that I know I'll use. These were awesome. I love the cuts and curves on them. I may buy these for some jewelry I'm making. I have a lot of gold saved up, and of course I have some gold from my Mom. I also found some gift cards that are all gold, and my daughter and her friend were thrilled to have their pictures taken with the gold. We had some fun with this one. We could have probably spent a whole hour playing in the sand with all the different parts. How could you not? This is what I think of when I hear Steven Von Till's "Heaven Is a Place on Earth" I

The Gradient Tool allows you to create or modify a gradient (a series of color changes) by drawing a line. The Magic Wand is a semi-automatic tool that allows you to select a region of an image by clicking on it. It's most often used for cropping, as well as selecting objects that are likely to be covered by clothes. The Pen Tool allows you to create and edit paths. These paths are like lines on your screen: Draw with the Pen Tool and it's path will appear automatically. Edit or change the path using tools that are found within the Pen Tool. The Rectangular Marquee tool allows you to make a selection that is defined by a line you draw on your image. The Spot Healing Brush is a tool that can correct for multiple-spot blemishes on your image. The Type Tool allows you to set the font for text. You can quickly create lists, use buttons or create labels. In order to create these items, you need to first select the font you want to use from the various fonts that are included with Photoshop. Photoshop's extensive features, the ability to manipulate your images to create stunning visual effects, and the ability to find everything within Photoshop's extensive features make it the most comprehensive and feature-packed program out there. Photoshop has become the industry standard for image manipulation. It's fast, accurate, and surprisingly easy to use. Photoshop CS6 includes powerful new features, like Content-Aware Fill, which intelligently fills in sections of a picture that are part of your subject matter. It's easy to create outlines, paths, selections, and other image-manipulating shapes. There are more than a dozen new filter effects to give you instant gratification. And Photoshop CS6 includes a powerful new Camera Raw for making RAW images. In CS6, you can import photos from more camera formats, plus you can apply or correct exposure, color, or saturation. CS6 also has a new magic wand tool that lets you select areas accurately with a click, or you can draw freehand to select areas. It's easier than ever to create video effects. With support for the entire suite of Adobe After Effects tools, you can create remarkable motion graphics with ease. Photoshop's other features include adjustment layers, spot healing, image blending modes, adjustments, channels, effects, the Lasso tool, a native Layer and path tools, selection tools,
